Become a PM4NGOs Training Partner
Promoting Project Management in the Development Sector

PM4NGOs is an international NGO that promotes and sustains the professionalism of project and program management in the international development and humanitarian sectors. We are the owner of the Project Management for Development Professionals (PMD Pro) guide and certification which, since its launch in 2010, has certified over 22,000 people in 166 countries in project and program management.

PM4NGOs Guides and Certifications

Our Project Management for Development Professionals Guide (PMD Pro Guide) is being adopted as a standard in many development organizations around the world. Year by year the demand for training in project management in the development and humanitarian sectors is increasing and, for that reason, PM4NGOs has been developing new methodologies, like the Program DPro Guide (Program Management for Development Professionals) and improving the PMD Pro guide as well.

Why become a PM4NGOs Training Partner?

PM4NGOs maintains a global network of training providers for professionals seeking the PMD Pro and the Program DPro certifications. Your organization can join this network, increase visibility, and access to training opportunities presented to PM4NGOs. In addition, PM4NGOs will:

• Advertise the partnership with your organization at our website, communications materials (when applicable), and through our communications channels.

• Actively support marketing and promotion of your organization’s training courses, sharing them at our agenda, social media, website, and mail lists.

• Support trainers and trainees through continuing professional development opportunities, such as webinars, tools, materials, and other activities.

• Grant your trainers early access to new guides, giving the opportunity to contribute through feedbacks and suggestions and, more importantly, develop or update your organization’s training materials before official guides’ launch.

• Share with your organization tools, templates, case studies, success stories, and learning materials before they are shared with practitioners and the public.

• Preferable select your organization for translating PM4NGOs’ guides and materials (volunteer or funded translation initiatives).

• Invite your organization to be panelists at PM4NGOs Webinars and to write articles and supplemental materials.

• Provide periodic detailed statistics reports of PMD Pro and Program DPro certification, and the PMD Pro+ network.

166 Countries

PMD Pro or PgMD Pro? Online or face to face?

Each organization decides which PM4NGOs’ methodologies it will offer in its training portfolio, and the type of training programme. There is no minimum number of training groups per year.

Appropriate

PMD Pro provides a common and contextualized vocabulary and framework specifically for managing development projects. PgMD Pro does it at the programme level.

Accessible

With guides in 6 languages, PMD Pro reaches professionals wherever they work. Over 75% of those certified are from developing countries.

Affordable

The PMD Pro Certification Scheme has been developed focused on community-based organizations and professionals, with affordable certification fees and a growing network of local training partners.

How to become a trainer partner

First of all, your organization must be developing or willing to start PMD Pro and/or Program DPro training courses. Your organization must also meet the following criteria:

• Alignment materials and communications with the PM4NGOs policy and communication rules.
• Share basic statistics training courses (number of participants and successful certifications)
• Demonstrate continuous improvement of courses based on student feedback.
• Trainers must be certified with a score (pass rate) over 80%.
• Trainers must have experience with the non-profit / governmental sector (at least 3 years, evidence required).
• Trainers must take a ToT or provide evidence of at least 2 years’ experience in training project management and/or non-profit courses/topics.
• Attend our Code of Ethics and be approved by the PM4NGOs Training Partners Committee.
• Payment of an annual donation.

Application Process

1. Fill out the online form or contact our team and request the offline application form.
2. The PM4NGOs team and Training Partners Committee will analyze your information and contact your organization.
3. If approved, PM4NGOs will send your organization an acknowledgement with further instructions.

Annual Subscription

The annual subscription is based on your organization’s area of operation, starting as $300/year for local training organizations (one country) and individual trainers. Check all tiers at our training partners subscription fees pages.
